After the layout of the home was finalized, the homeowners enlisted the help of interior designer Jenny Baines, principal at Baines Design, to develop a cohesive, customized aesthetic. Trained at Rhode Island School of Design, Jenny spent 10 years working for design firms in New York City before returning to her hometown of Portland in 2005 to start a family and her own business. Jenny and Curt worked together closely to select fixtures and finishes, design the most complex areas of the home like kitchens and bathrooms, and continue the process of seamlessly integrating the home with its surroundings.

To keep the focus on the setting—what Jenny describes as “the star of the show”—they opted for neutral colors and clean interior lines, and leaned heavily on clean,
